I OFFER TO RENT FOR ONE YEAR, OR LEASE for five, my plantation in Pitt County, containing between eleven and twelve hundred acres, three hundred of which are well cleared and well adapted to the culture of cotton. The fencing has been destroyed, and the buildings much abused and for this reason I will lease for five years for one fourth of the crop, provided that the plantation shall be returned in good repair and that not less than 150 acres shall be planted in cotton any year of the lease J. 4. Because thousands are using it, and every body should.
5. Because it is peculiarly adapted to all classes, old and young.
6. Because it is purely vegetable—not a dye.
7. Because it kills hair eaters, and makes the hair luxuriant and soft.
8. Because it cures all humors and diseases of the scalp.
9. Because it arrests and prevents the hair from falling.
10. Because it is no humbug, but an honest article, as multitudes can testify; and if it don't prove as recommended, the money will be refunded.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E PELL, Editor.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 17 1865

OUR TERMS

THE SENTINEL is issued every morning (Sunday excepted) at the following rates:

For six months,	$5.00
For one month	1.00
" two months	2.00

Our terms are invariably in advance. The scarcity of money however, obliges us to say to our friends, that responsible and prompt persons who desire the Sentinel need not delay sending us their names at once. who can send us the Cash in a short time. The money may be sent us by the Rail Road Conductors or the Express Company.

The friends of JONATHAN WORTH, Esq., have requested us to announce, that he will be supported throughout the State at the approaching election, for Governor of North Carolina.

☞ The Papers of the State are respectfully requested to publish.

A Word to the People.

By an ordinance of the State Convention, an election for Governor, members of Congress, members of the Legislature, and other officers will take place on the second Thursday in November next, but little more than three weeks from the present time. It is a most important election, and it is singularly unfortunate that so short a time has been granted you in which to select your candidates, and to canvass their merits and to instruct them in regard to the various interests which will be confided to them. This has grown out of the tedious process which has been adopted in this State, to restore you to your old position in the Union of the States—a process far more tedious and illiberal than that which has been required of any other Southern State.

The short period allowed you however, should not render you less anxious or less active in securing the services of the very best men in the State, to fill the various offices which the exigency requires. You must therefore be on the alert and act promptly.

The first Legislature under the restoration to the Union, is one of the highest moment. The entire machinery of the reconstructed government is to be put in motion. Two U. S. Senators are to be elected; also a Public Treasurer, Comptroller, Secretary of State and other minor officers. Perhaps the stringent policy adopted by the State Convention may render necessary the election of a Supreme Court Bench and the Judges of the Superior Courts—that body in its zeal to obliterate all traces of the late revolution, seeming anxious to wipe out all evidence that North Carolina has been a State at all.

The approaching Legislature will be charged with the difficult and high duty of providing a code for the regulation of the freedmen and the whites in their new relations—of adjusting a system of revenue and adapting it to the demands of the Public Treasury and the impoverished condition of our people—of providing perhaps for the relief of the people from the oppressive indebtedness which now burthens them, reorganizing the militia, and indeed, to supply the entire necessary legislation for our anomalous position. Such a task requires the highest ability and the best legislative talent and experience in the State.

Fortunately, our people are not divided upon any question of National politics. We are all for the Union and all are supporters of President Johnson and four-fifths of our people are supporters of his liberal policy and administration. We have neither a Democratic nor Whig party—a Secession or Destructive nor a Conservative party, no party but the Union party.

Nor need the canvass divide and distract our people in regard to State measures. Never have our people been so nearly alike in sympathy and interest as at the present time—never have the people of North Carolina had greater cause to feel that we belong to a common brotherhood, than at present. We are all sufferers by the war—all feel the burthens of the times—all groan under the weight of the public and private indebtedness—all are united upon the proper status of the freedmen—all feel alike the necessity for the protection of both races from injury and wrong. There is therefore no question of State policy to divide us into factions and parties. The question of the public and private indebtedness of the State, Counties and people will of course be considered in the canvass—all the facts and figures involved in the question must be brought out, if possible—every plan and scheme for the relief of the people must be considered, and the whole matter left to the sober judgment of the people and their legislators.—Let no party divisions or factions arise upon this head, but let the people and their representatives agree that only the best plan shall be adopted to afford most certainly the relief of the people, and secure the honor of the State.

There is perhaps but one source of division in the State. There is a faction in the State embracing perhaps one-fifth, certainly not one-fourth of the voters in the State, calling themselves "the straitest sect," who are plotting to secure the control of public affairs. They are seeking to secure the selection of the members of Congress and the Legislature, to the interest of that faction. They want the United States Senators, the Judges, and the officers of the State to suit that stripe and that stripe alone. People of North Carolina, they must be defeated in this scheme. They are intolerant, bitter in their feelings and proscriptive in their purposes. Four-fifths of our people are really anxious to forget the past—to let "by-gones be by-gones"—to heal the wounds which have been made by the war. Four-fifths of our people endorse heartily the liberal and benign policy of President Johnson, and they are anxious to see it faithfully and fully carried out in this State. They are anxious to forget and to forgive—they are tolerant and liberal towards their fellow-citizens, but those of the "straitest sect" stripe, while they profess to be friends and supporters of President Johnson, are vindictive, illiberal and denunciatory of their fellow-citizens, who have heretofore differed with them.

Their organs have continued to teem with denunciation. They counsel the people to vote for none but those of the "straitest sect." Now we call upon the liberal press of the State and the liberal people of North Carolina, to defeat and utterly route this illiberal and proscriptive faction in the coming election. Let every man who loves the State, who loves the Union—who wants concord and harmony in the State, and who is anxious to promote the prosperity and happiness of the people of North Carolina, go to the polls at the coming election, resolved to defeat this faction. Let them be routed "horse, foot and dragoons." Let the people of truly conservative feelings and principles, without bitterness or vindictiveness, rally to defeat a faction, which will keep the State in turmoil and fermentation, so long as they can raise a corporal's guard to sustain an illiberal, persecuting and vindictive press.

We call therefore upon all men who claim to be "the friends and supporters of the Union, of President Johnson and of his liberal policy, and who are opposed to the illiberal, vindictive and proscriptive faction, called "the straitest sect party," to rally to the support of only such men for office as truly represent the really conservative people of North Carolina.

Where is North Carolina and what is She?

Is North Carolina a State? Was she a State before and during the late revolution? Is she one now? The reader of the proceedings of the Convention will sometimes find himself in doubt, about the correct answer to give to these questions. In the anxiety of that body to wipe out the stains of the revolution—to erase every vestige of the evidences of revolt, they seem not to be content to ignore the truth of history and to make a history which literally obliterates or conceals facts, but some of them seem determined to ignore the existence of the State at all, either before or during the revolution.

We understand President Johnson to take the position that the Southern States did not lose their organic character by the rebellion, but that their constitutional political powers were suspended, rendering all their political acts null and void during that period, because contrary to and subversive of the constitution and laws of the United States;—that their organic character still remains to them; but their political character is still suspended because tainted with treason, and must remain so, until restored to the family of the States. The people of North Carolina have accepted that definition as a true exposition of the status of the State.

Hence, to be true to this exposition, it is the duty of her Convention, to declare her political acts during the revolution, null and void; but it is not so clear that it is its duty to declare her political offices vacated, and direct the mode of their being filled. What right has the Convention to touch her organic acts or rather those which were essential to the preservation of her organism and not contrary to the constitution and laws of the United States, during the revolution? Now during this period, she had a right to elect her Governors and Legislatures and to preserve her Judiciary intact. The offices of Governor, of the Legislature and of the Judiciary are essential to the organism of a State. The common idea that an unrestricted State Convention can do any thing which the people can do, is correct. But so long as the Constitution of a State is whole—is unchanged, the people are bound by the Constitution and so is a State Convention. If the people or a Convention do any thing above or in defiance of or violative of the Constitution, such act must be revolutionary to all intents and purposes.

Now the offices of State, i. e. the political offices may be declared vacant when it is made to appear that the officers or occupants have been guilty of a misdemeanor, i. e. a constitutional or legal forfeiture. The Supreme government assumes that all such officers have become thus guilty, who have participated in the revolution, and by consequence must remain so, so long as they are tainted with treason. But suppose the Executive clemency should pardon them before their term of service for which they were constitutionally elected expires; has the Convention the right per se to vacate the office, unless they are first convicted of some other misdemeanor which constitutionally unfits them?

But the President of the United States in the exercise of the authority vested in him as Commander in Chief, may declare the civil officers of State, the Governor, Legislature and other officers, to have forfeited their position, by being participants in the revolution, and their offices consequently vacant; and hence the Convention in such a case is bound also to declare them vacant. If this be so, the action may be justified. But has he so declared, or does he regard their authority simply suspended, until the restoration?

But if the military authority of the government has not thus nullified the constitutional authority of the Governor, Legislature and Judiciary, the Convention has no authority thus summarily to vacate thir offices. But if on the other hand the military authority, has so declared, the Convention in ratifying its acts, should state the facts and the reasons for declaring their offices vacant.

As to the Judiciary it is perfectly plain, that if the military authority of the President, has not vacated the offices of our Judges, the Convention has no authority to declare those offices vacated, before they are impeached and judged by proper authority, of an offense to justify it. The fact, that the Convention might esteem them guilty of treason, would not justify their impeachment, because they are all declared forgiven and innocent by the pardon of the President. We pretend not to speak confidently on those points, but simply throw out such suggestions as a common sense view of the case impressed upon us.

Jonathan Worth, Esq.

It will be seen that the friends of this gentleman, have prevailed on him to allow the use of his name as a candidate for Governor, at the election, on the second Thursday in November next.

No gentleman in the State is more entitled to the consideration and support of the people for long and valuable public services,—none have sustained a better public record—none a more unsulled integrity as a public man, than Mr. Worth. His ability, his devotion to the public interests, his firmness, yet his liberality and ingenuousness, and withal his entire freedom from all pretense and demagoguism, place him in the front rank of public men in the State for any position.

We presume we have few men, if any in the State, held in higher estimation at Washington city, as a devoted Union man and supporter of President Johnson's administration than Mr. Worth; and none whose administration of public affairs in this State, would contribute more to the reputation of the State abroad, as well as at home.

Such a man, with such a record, we can support most cordially and earnestly, and we shall do so without any misgivings as to the result. As yet no announcement has been made of any opposition, but the presumption is, there will be opposition. The friends of the Union and the warm supporters of President Johnson's liberal policy, have only to rally to Mr. Worth to secure him a triumphant election.

Members of Congress.

Under the new arrangement of the Districts, North Carolina will elect seven members of Congress. The election takes place on the second Thursday in November next.

There is no time to lose. Those who design to become candidates should make known their intention as soon as possible. We hope that in every District, men of the right stamp will be brought out. True Union men, warm supporters of President Johnson and his liberal policy, and men of liberal views and feelings towards all, are the kind of men to select.

It will be seen that the friends of C. C. Clark Esq., of Craven, have announced his name for the second District. Mr. C. will make a representative of whom that District and the State will be proud. He is a man of ability, and a friend of the Union and of President Johnson.

GOV. GRAHAM ON THE TEST OATH.—We are pleased to find our own views of the duty of our people in regard to members of Congress, fully sustained by the able argument of Gov. Graham, as to the practical effect the test oath of Congress ought to have in the approaching election.

The entire argument of Gov. Graham is thoroughly sustained, and is just such an argument as we expected from his able and lucid pen.

OUTRAGE.—We have not space to allude to the outrage committed on Saturday night last, upon Mr. H. O. Parker and family as it merits. They were attacked by several armed negroes, Mrs. Parker was severely beaten and brutally treated and Mr. P. was also beaten. They then stole an amount of money and other property. A posse captured one of the negroes on Sunday and part of the articles stolen. We hope all of them will be captured and properly dealt with.

Mr. Lewis Hanes of Davidson, we learn, has resigned the office of Private Secretary to the Government.

ADVERTISEMENTS.—We have not space to allude specifically to new advertisements. We beg special attention to them. Messrs. Harding, Andrews & Co., have removed to the store lately occupied by Mr. Wm. Thompson as a watch and jewelry store.

The Washington special of the Herald says:—Over $2,000,000 of unclaimed pay remains in the hands of the Navy Department, and its pension fund from captures is somewhere between $8,000,000 and 10,000,000

Two National Banks have failed. The First National Bank of Attica, New York, and the American National Bank of Hallowell have gone by the board. The capital of both these defunct institutions foot up an aggregate of one hundred thousand dollars.

The Richmond Times says the Swedish emigration experiment has worked to the satisfaction of all parties. The farmers are much pleased with the Swedes, whom they find to be industrious, efficient, honest and orderly. They do double the work of negroes, and require no looking after.

General Humphreys, late a General in the Confederate army, has been elected by the people of Mississippi to the office of Governor, under their new Constitution. The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says that a powerful effort is being directed towards getting the President to revoke the amnesty pardon which he has just tendered to General Humphrey. We don't think the effort will succeed.—Pet. Index.

The Dangerfield property in Alexandria, valued at about $ 0,000, which was seized by the Government, has been restored to Mrs. Dangerfield, by direction of the President.

President Johnson's Idea of Reorganization.

The following is an extract from a speech to an Indiana delegation made by the President since his inauguration taken from a work recently published, entitled, "Speeches of Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, with a Biographical Introduction by Frank Moore:"

"We have seen that the government is composed of parts, each essential to the whole, and the essential to each part. Now, if an individual (part of a State) declare war against the whole, in violation of the constitution, he, as a citizen, has violated the law, and is responsible for the act as an individual. There may be more than one individual; it may go on until they become parts of States. Sometimes the rebellion may go on increasing in number till the State machinery is overturned, and the country becomes like a man that is paralized on one side. But we find in the constitution a great panacea provided. It provides that the United States (that is the great integer) shall guarantee to each State (the integers composing the whole) in this Union a republican form of government. Yes, if rebellion was rampant, and set aside the machinery of a State for a time, there stands the great law to remove the paralysis and revitalize it and put it on its feet again.

* * * "Upon this idea of destroying States, my position has been heretofore well known, and I see no cause to change it now, and I am glad to hear its reiteration on the present occasion.—Some are satisfied with the idea that States are to be lost in territorial and other divisions; are to lose their character as States. But their life-breath has only been suspended, and it is a high constitutional obligation we have to secure each of these States in the possession and enjoyment of a republican form of government. A State may be in the government with a peculiar institution, and by the operation of rebellion lose that feature; but it was a State when it went into rebellion and when it comes out without the institution, it is still a State. I hold it a solemn obligation in any one of these States where the rebel armies have been beaten back or expelled, I care not how small the ship of State, I hold it I say, a high duty to protect and to secure to them a republican form of government. This is no new opinion. It is expressed in conformity with my understanding of the genius and theory of our government. Then, in adjusting and putting the government upon its legs again, I think the progress of this work must pass into the hands of its friends. If a State is to be nursed until it gets strength it must be nursed by its friends, not smothered by its enemies."

Dublin Fenians before the Magistrates--Startling Statements.

The Fenian prisoners were brought before the police magistrates at Dublin, on the 30th ultimo, including the editor and proprietor of the Irish People newspaper. There are forty-one prisoners in all.

Mr. Barry, Queen's Counsel, appeared for the crown, and made a long speech. He said that within the last fortnight three thousand five hundred pounds had arrived from America to be expended in revolutionizing Ireland, and by that day's mail the Government had intercepted a letter for one of the prisoners named Lupper, containing a draft for four hundred and fifteen pounds on the house of Rothschilds. Several other letters containing bills of exchange had been intercepted. The making of pikes had also been extensively carried on. One of the prisoners had made two thousand of these murderous weapons. Numerous revolvers and breast plates had also been found in possession of the prisoners connected with the Irish People newspaper. He quoted an incendiary paragraph, urging the employment of force, from a number of that paper which was about to be seized.

Mr. Barry concluded his speech by asserting that the Fenians were powerful both in Ireland and America. He trusted that this affair would end forever such hopeless conspiracies.

Evidence was then given against the prisoners, and some of them were identified as connected with the suppressed Fenian organ.

The investigation was still pending when the China sailed, and would probably last for several days.

The First Baptist Church, located on Front street in this city, has, we understand, been sold to some of the colored people of the Methodist persuasion. North Carolina State Convention.

THIRTEENTH DAY.

October 16th, 1865.

The Rev. L. L. Stewart of the Presbyterian Church, the delegate from Buncombe County, opened the Convention with prayer.

The minutes were read and approved.

Mr Wilson of Perquimans moved to suspend the rules in order to take up an ordinance introduced by him, entitled "An ordinance providing for the support of the pauper freedmen, and other colored paupers in North Carolina." The motion did not prevail.

PETITIONS.

Mr. Donnell of Beaufort introduced a petition from Mr. T J. Hughes of Newbern, in regard to a portion of the Treasurer's report, as follows:

To the honorable Convention of the people of North Carolina, now assembled in Raleigh.

The petition of Theodore J Hughes of New Bern N. C., respectfully sheweth that in the Treasurers report made to His Excellency the Governor of the State, under date of the second of October and which has been laid before your honor to day, there is this paragraph.

"In September, 1864, $10.000 in gold coin was obtained from the Bank of North Carolina upon the draft of Governor Vance, on the State's bankers in England, which draft these bankers have declined to pay, on the alleged ground of want of funds. This money was placed in the hands of an agent, with instructions to convert it to Confederate Treasury notes, and "to buy all the rosin lying west of the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad for account of the State of North Carolina." The exhibit of this agent, recently made to me upon my requirement, shows purchases of resin from the 30th October. 1864, to 5th January, 1865 to the amount of $18.410 Confederate currency; and a purchase from Caswell Stewart, of Harnett county, of a bed of rosin for $15,000. —same currency, on the 10th May 1865. Less than $1,000 in gold, sold at the dates of the purchases of the rosin, would have brought more Confederate currency than was paid for all the rosin. The account exhibited shows sales of $6,164 of this coin, apparently at sundry times, (though the dates of the sales and names of purchasers are not given,) for $160 623 Confederate currency, the premiums obtained ranging from 20 to 52 for one. He produces receipts for about $2.200 in gold, paid out for other purposes than the purchase of rosin, and he claims the right to retain the balance, on account of alledged advances made by him in coin, some 18 months ago, to pay wages due to the crew of the steamer Advance. This account is balanced by a credit to the State for $92,319.50 in Confederate Treasury notes, in the hands of the agent."

This paragraph is understood to refer to your petitioner and does him great wrong and injustice in leaving the impression that he has been guilty of some misconduct in the fulfilment of his agency. His misconduct is not specially stated and your petitioner is at a loss to know upon what ground it is, that his infidelity is insinuated.

There is therefore no alternative but to ask an investigation that the charge may be specified and your petitioner afforded an opportunity to vindicate his conduct and character.

Your petitioner's account current of all transactions touching the agency in question, was before the Treasurer at the time of making his report and contains a just and true statement in all respects.

He is unconscious of any error therein, or of any wrong inflicted or intended to be inflicted upon the interests of the State; but on the contrary avers that his agency resulted in very great advantage, which the State can realize any time by a sale of the rosin on hand.

Your petitioner respectfully asks for a committee to examine his accounts and vouchers that their fairness and sufficiency may be tested, and the character of your petitioner relieved from any unjust suspicion that may have been cast upon it, and your petitioner as in duty bound will ever pray.

Respectfully submitted,

T. J. HUGHES.

Mr. Donnell moved that the petition be referred to a special committee of three. It was a matter of great importance to Mr Hughes, as he was a gentleman engaged in the mercantile business, and the imputation was calculated to do him an injury. He testified to the good character of the petitioner, from a long personal acquaintance with him. He trusted that the President would depart from the usual custom, and not place him as chairman of the committee, and he preferred not to be a member of it.

Mr. Manly, of Craven, concurred with Mr. Donnell, and hoped the matter would be referred to a committee. He testified to the character of the petitioner, whom he had known from his infancy.

The motion prevailed, and Messrs. Wright, New Hanover, Caldwell, Guilford, and Conigland, of Halifax, were announced as the committee.

RESOLUTIONS AND ORDINANCES.

The following resolutions and ordinances were introduced and lie over:

By Mr. Eaton: A resolution concerning the "Test Oath."

Resolved, That the Congress of the United States, be respectfully but earnestly requested to repeal the act of July, 2d, 1862, requiring the Test Oath therein mentioned, as a qualification for a seat in Congress, or to hold office under the Government of the United States.

By Mr. Caldwell of Guilford,

An ordinance to scale and consolidate the State debt.

By Mr. Thompson of Bertie,

A resolution that when this Convention adjourns, except from day to day, it adjourn to meet on the 2d Thursday in May 1866, or sooner upon the call of the Provisional Governor, and if vacancies shall occur in the meantime, writs of election to fill the same shall be issued by the Governor of the State.

Mr. Thompson moved a suspension of the rules and the ordinance put on it passage, and the motion prevailed.

Mr. Joyner moved to amend by fixing the time for the next session on the 1st Thursday in July. The amendment did not prevail.

The resolution was then adopted.

By Mr. Winborne of Chowan,

A resolution appointing a committee of five to examine the Calendar, to report what ordinances and resolutions are necessary to be acted upon by the Convention at its present session, and report to-morrow. The rules were suspended and the resolution passed. Messrs. Winborne, Chowan; Starbuck, Forsyth; Brooks, Pasquotank; Boyden, Rowan; and Mebane, Alamance were announced as the committee.

By Mr. Gilliam of Granville,

An ordinance "concerning resignations and vacancies." [Provides that during recess, resignations of seats in this Convention, shall be in writing and forwarded to the Governor, and that the Governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies occuring during recess.]

Under a suspension of the rules the ordinance passed its several readings.

Mr. Burgin of McDowell moved to suspend the rules in order to take up the ordinance on the "Basis of Representation." The motion did not prevail.

Mr. Moore of Wake, an ordinance submitting to the qualified voters of the State, the ratification or rejection of certain ordinances.

Be it ordained by the delegates of the people of North Carolina, and it is hereby ordained by the authority of the same. That on the second Thursday of November next there shall be submitted to the voters of the State, qualified to vote for members of the House of Commons for their ratification or rejection of the ordinance passed by this Convention entitled "an ordinance declaring null and void the ordinance of May 20th 1861," and such persons as shall favor the ratification shall vote a ticket with the words "For the ordinance denying the right of secession," and those opposed shall vote a ticket in the words "against the ordinance denying the right of secession."

Also at the same time shall be submitted for their ratification or rejection an ordinance passed by the committee entitled "an ordinance prohibiting slavery in the State of North Carolina," and those who favor the ratification of the same, shall vote a ballot with the words, "For the ordinance prohibiting slavery," and those opposed shall vote a ticket with the words, "against the ordinance prohibiting slavery."

Be it further ordained, That the sheriffs and other officers in each county shall transmit the same to the Provisional Governor, who is hereby empowered and requested to cause the number voting each way to be ascertained, and proclaimed through as many as three newspapers published in different parts of the State.

Be it further ordained, That if ratified, thence forth the said ordinances, shall be the law of the land, and that abolishing slavery shall become a part of the constitution of the State.

Mr. Conigland, moved to amend, so as to submit only the ordinance abolishing slavery, to a vote of the people. He deprecated the policy of distracting at this time the popular mind, by a question which must create some division, and may give an opportunity to evil disposed persons to misconstrue our motives. Why is it proposed to submit to a vote of the people an ordinance, which is not intended as a part of the organic law of the State. He supposed that no other ordinance of that character would be so submitted, and he could not see the purpose of submitting this. The abolition of slavery is intended to form a part of our Constitution—let us be unanimous upon it, and not divide on questions of less importance. The right of secession has been as effectually destroyed, by the result of this war, as the right of Revolution was established by the series of events which raised William the Third to the throne of England. We have passed an ordinance denying the right; it is all that is required of us, and it is not the part of duty or of wisdom to distract the popular mind upon a question of this sort, when no practical good can accrue from it.

Mr. Ferebee, of Camden, said he would go as far as he who would go the furtherest against the question of secession as a constitutional remedy But he could not see the good to result from the agitation of this question at this time, before the people. What would be the effect, if out of a vote of one hundred thousand, twenty-five thousand should vote against the proposition? We should do all we can to heal the wounds and restore the State to her relations with the general government. The time has arrived when we should let questions which may excite party feeling and discord, remain quiet—we should throw oil on the troubled waters. Those who think differently from the gentleman from Wake (Mr. Moore) and himself have as much right to express these opinions as we have. He did not believe that the delegates here or the people of North Carolina differed upon this question. Secession was dead and the question had been settled. He proposed that the matter should be referred to the people in language modified, somewhat, so that it might receive the undivided support of the people.

Mr Winston, of Franklin, favored the ordinance as it stood.

Mr. Brooks, of Pasquotank, regarded the action of this Convention as only killing the ugly old animal—secession—and his carcass now lies unburied. He desired the people to take part in the burial.

Mr. Moore, of Wake, said he would amend the ordinance, and give notice of the intended amendment, which he would offer at the proper time.

Messrs. Conigland and Ferebee were satisfied with the proposed amendment, and Mr. C. desired to withdraw his amendment, but objection was made by Mr. Caldwell of Burke, who demanded the ayes and nays upon the adoption of the amendment, and the call was sustained, and the amendment rejected. Ayes 5, nays 103. Messrs. Allen, Conigland, Howard, Kennedy and McCay of Sampson voting in the affirmative.

Mr. Howard of Wilson, desired to be understood as not voting against submitting the ordinance to the people, but the offensive manner in which the vote was proposed to be submitted, making those who had favored secession, either to stultify themselves or be placed in apparant antagonism to the government.

Mr. Ferebee had voted against the amendment with the expectation of supporting the modification proposed to be offered by the delegate from Wake, (Mr. Moore,)

Mr. Joyner of Warren, remarked that similar considerations had influenced his vote.

Mr. Furches of Davie, was in favor of the original ordinance.

The ordinance then passed its second reading, and under a further suspension of the rules, it was put upon its third reading.

Mr. Moore of Wake, moved to amend, so that the vote should be "for the ordinance concerning the right of secession" and "against the ordinance concerning the right of secession."

Mr Dockery of Richmond had great respect for the delegate from Camden and those who acted with him, but he wanted the question submitted to the people, plain and easily understood. He wanted a direct vote upon the question of secession or no secession All the people knew what that meant. Thousands of widows and orphans understood that. He hoped the amendment would not prevail.

Mr. Starbuck, proposed an amendment by which the vote should not be separately taken on the ordinances, but that both should be voted on (ratification or rejection) without making any distinction in the vote. He proposed this for the sake of harmony, which he desired, by all means to secure. He did not desire to make a speech to prove his record, it might be necessary for some gentlemen to do so, it was not for him. His Union record was a record of four years, and he did not fear to be misunderstood. He opposed and had continued to oppose the measures which had desolated this land, but now, when peace had been restored, he carried no vindictive sentiments in his heart. He had recently traveled through the North, he had found the people there kind and conciliatory, willing to forgive, and far less vindictive to our own people than he had found some gentlemen on this floor to be Those who had differed with him, had submitted honorably, gracefully and he believed sincerely—they were as little desirous to revive secession, in his opinion, as he was, and he harbored no feeling of revenge against them. In a spirit of peace and harmony he offered his amendment.

Mr. Brown of Caswell thought, if this question could be submitted in an agreeable form, why do it in a disagreeable one. He desired unanimity and harmony. The moral effect of a divided vote would be disastrous. The proposed amendment of the delegate from Forsyth (Mr. Starbuck) will give unanimity at the polls. He desired to do every thing for harmony and conciliation and nothing for party feuds.

Mr. Caldwell of Burke, remarked that he would at the proper time offer an amendment so as to take the vote on the question "for secession" and "against secession."

Mr. Howard of Edgecombe, was no stickler for mere words. He was willing to support either the amendment of the delegate from Wake, [Mr. Moore,] or that of the delegate from Forsyth, [Mr. Starbuck.] These gentlemen were willing to be liberal, and their records were uniformly for the Union throughout the war, while gentlemen here, who made no record in those days evinced such a proscriptive spirit.

Mr. Grissom of Granville, said he regretted to differ with his friend from Burke, but his proposed amendment would not present the proper question to the people, there was no such issue as secession and no secessign, that question had been settled. It was upon the ratification of the ordinance upon the subject as proposed by the Convention. He suggested, however, to his friend from Wake, [Mr. Moore] that a simpler manner of submitting the question would be a vote for or against the "anti secession ordinance," and for or against the "anti-slavery ordinance."

Mr. Moore remarked he would adopt the suggestion of the delegate from Granville.

Mr. Love of Jackson supported the amendment. He desired the ordinance to be submitted, that all could vote approvingly, that those who on the battle field had stood shoulder to shoulder, could now with the same unanimity vote for the ordinance. The question of secession was not now before the people.

Mr. Phillips of Orange did not see much difference in the various propositions. The question to be submitteed to the people was their approval or disapproval of the ordinance passed by this Convention ten days ago in the very words I then adopted. And he cared not what machinery was used to accomplish this. He was perfectly willing to put the question in the shape least objectionable to delegates.

Mr. Starbuck being entirely satisfied with the amendment of the delegate from Wake, (Mr. Moore,) withdrew his. He desired to say in reference to an amendment which Mr. Caldwell of Burke, proposed to introduce, that we had no right to submit anything to the people save the ratification or non-ratification of what we had done here. The question of "secession" or no "secession," was a false issue, and not responsive to any measure we had adopted. It would appear thereby, as if we had a secession and a no-secession party in this State, and as if the question was to be decided by the people for the first time. Whereas no such party existed among us, and such an amendment would do both the people and ourselves injustice. And he had no doubt that those who had been opposed to his principles on this question of secession, would cheerfully ratify the action of this Convention on both ordinances.

Mr. Caldwell, of Burke, now offered his amendment, and demanded the ayes and nays which was sustained, and the amendment did not prevail. Ayes 28—Noes 78

Mr. Boyden declined voting, as he was favorable to either proposition.

Mr. Moore accepted the suggestion of the delegate from Granville (Mr. Grissom) and the amendment was adopted and the ordinance so amended, passed.

Mr. Moore of Wake introduced an ordinance authorizing the Provisional Governor to make known by Proclamation the day of election with provisions necessary to carry into effect the various ordinances of the Convention relating thereto. Under a suspension of the rules the ordinance was passed.

Mr. Moore of Wake, an ordinance to protect the rightful owners of property, which passed under suspension of the rules. Messrs. Moore, Wake; Phillips, Orange; Boyden, Rowan; Eaton, Warren; and Winston, Franklin, were announced as the committee called for by the ordinance.

Upon motion of Mr. Wright, of New Hanover, the ordinance providing for a revenue tax for 1865, was made the special order for 11 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. Thompson, of Bertie, asked for and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Caldwell of Burke, until Thursday. Mr. C. was called away on public business.

Mr. Phillips, of Orange, called up an ordinance in relation to public records, which, under a suspension of the rules, was adopted.

Mr. Winston, of Franklin, moved to take up the resolution in relation to the "Test Oath," which was agreed to and the resolution passed.

The ordinance "declaring what laws are in force" came up on its third reading as the unfinished business, and upon motion of Mr. Caldwell of Guilford, the Convention took a recess until 7 o'clock, P. M.

Horrible Murder near Gaston.

We received on yesterday, information of a horrible murder which occurred near Gaston on Wednesday night, the victim of which was the Rev Mr. Castleman, the Episcopal minister, who had been in charge of the church at that place.—Mr. Castleman had taken tea with a friend residing near Summit Station, a short distance from his own residence, and the evening being over, started home. His absence during the night alarmed his family, and on the following morning, messengers being sent to ascertain the cause of his delay, his corpse was found a short distance from Summit Station. The wound by which he came to his death was in the breast, and evidently inflicted by a pistol shot, his clothes being blackened and burned by the discharge. The shot was not heard, and no suspicion rests on any person as the author of the crime. Mr. Castleman was an elderly gentleman, with a large family, who, by his death, are left wholly dependent. He was universally beloved in his section, had no enemies, and certainly no one could have slain him for the purpose of robbery. The whole affair is a sad mystery, which will, we trust, be ferreted out. These outrages are becoming very common, and some severe remedy should be applied for their prevention immediately.—Petersburg Index.

For the Sentinel.

IN MEMORIAM.

Last lone martyr to a falling cause!
I sat beside his tented couch of war;
I watched the progress of stern Nature's laws—
The solemn setting of his fatal star.

"The gloom of night," he said, "now spreads
Its raven pall o er land and sea;
Midnight hushes every sound, and sheds
Its death-shade odors on all hope to me.

Crushed thrice crushed this failing heart:
At thought of Country, Love and Life;
The first despoil'd—with her I part—
And Death—he ever wins in strife!"

He said no more, but closed the eye,
"Just murm'ring as its light went out:
"Country! Mother! Life!—I die,
Fate hath put my hope to rout."

He breath'd not more, and then I thought
I saw his spirit pass the door
Of Paradise, and then I caught
The glare of Angels there before.

And tallest form was seen to be,
The goddess of all Nations' pride:
'Yclept now Hope, here Liberty,
Who gently drew him to her side.

The door was shut, but yet there came
Like music com s to fancy s ear;
The rising notes that bear no name,
Yet ever doth the soul so stir.

The last I join in our sacred chant,
'Tis but the air the living, loving sing
On battle fields, where armies pant
For victory—and here you hear it ring.

The ever-green lies on thy grave,
Laid kindly there by beauty's hand;
They, who always love the brave—
And by my statue ever stand.

The sounds no more came to my ear,
For surely closed the portals were;
And yet the notes or memories dear—
Still float, and float throughout the air.

FOR CONGRESS.

MR. EDITOR:—The friends of C. C. CLARK Esq., of Craven County, announce him as a candidate to represent the 2nd Congressional District, in the next United States Congress.

October, 17, 1865-61 tde.

If You are Threatened with Pneumonia,

Read the following from Capt. W. P. Davis, of Petersburg, Va.:

"Sympathy for the suffering prompts me to certify that my servant man was suffering in the last stage of Pneumonia, throwing up matter and blood in great quantities; his case was considered entirely hopeless, so much so, that there was no medical perscription used for his recovery; I regarded him as good as dead. Hearing of the great cures made by the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS, I thought that I would try an experiment on him; without any hope of success; however, I gave the Pills in large doses; in a short time, to my great surprise, there was a change for the better; I continued giving them to him, until he became a perfectly sound man. He is now attending to his work with as much strength and vigor as he ever did.—With his case, and what I have seen and heard of the good effects of these Pills, I do most earnestly recommend them as the best family medicine I have ever seen or used."

LOUISBURG
FEMALE COLLEGE.

REV. T. M. JONES, A. M., Pres't and Proprietor.

THE EXERCISES OF THIS INSTITUTION will begin on the second Wednesday in January, 1866.

Louisburg is a village seldom surpassed for health, intelligence, refinement and morality. It is in Franklin County nine miles from Franklinton, on the R. and Gaston Railroad. Between these points there is a daily stage line, connecting with trains going North and South.

The College building, located in a beautiful grove, on an elevated site, is large, commodious and well ventilated. It will be thoroughly renovated, and fitted up with neat furniture and fire places in the dormitories. It is our purpose to establish for young ladies a school of the highest grade, affording superior facilities for the acquisition of a thorough and accomplished education

With the advantages of a good library, a well selected Chemical and Philosophical apparatus, a competent Faculty, and large experience in connection with the Greensboro Female College, we hope, by a faithful discharge of duty, to merit a liberal share of patronage. Boarding pupils will live as members of the President's family. Terms reasonable, and will be made known in due time. Those desiring to send their daughters, will please address me, for the present, at Greensboro,' N. C, and circulars will be sent.
